

Value of Life

“Listen,

Saying life is unfair,

is inherently unfair.

Value isn't based on if a single person cares - it's more than that.

It depends on the when and where,

not whether the things can compare.

The answer isn't obvious,

doesn't mean it isn't there,

Just because something is true, doesn't mean it's clear,

Still, you have no will to hear,

that's living life out of fear, trapping yourself in despair,

Cause if you're only willing to talk about and share the ideas you already know - then you'll never expand or grow, like fish's lungs breathing air.

Answers to your greatest problems are in the places you'd never dare, to go.”
